For more than 50 years, Samaritan’s Purse has responded to emergencies all over the world. As we relieve suffering, we boldly proclaim salvation in Jesus Christ because “there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

We thank God for using this ministry to bring life-saving aid and eternal hope to people in desperate situations. Last year, we comforted residents in our country’s heartland and helped them recover after deadly tornadoes caused unfathomable destruction. Our teams quickly set up an Emergency Field Hospital and water filtration systems in Haiti after a devastating earthquake, airlifted tons of relief items to help those who fled the crisis in Afghanistan, and deployed medical personnel and hospitals during the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

Samaritan’s Purse also reached millions of hurting children through Operation Christmas Child and The Greatest Journey and offered both healing and restoration for military couples who have made huge sacrifices for our freedom.

I am deeply grateful for your prayers and support as we share the Good News of God’s love and continue to “hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful” (Hebrews 10:23). May God bless you.

Sincerely,

Franklin Graham

SAMARITAN’S PURSE quickly deployed to the hardest-hit areas of Kentucky and Arkansas after twisters tore through communities in the dark of night, leaving a long trail of death and destruction. Our volunteers responded in Jesus’ Name to bring physical relief and the comfort of Jesus Christ to hurting families.

U.S. DISASTER RELIEF

DECEMBER TORNADOES
Faith Mightier Than the Storm

“As long as I’ve got God, I’ve got everything.”

This is a testimony that Hollie Jackson has carried with him through a season of incredible hardship.

Within one calendar year, Hollie’s kitchen caught on fire, his mother died from COVID-19, and his youngest daughter was murdered. Then, in December, Hollie’s property was damaged when an EF4 tornado caused widespread destruction in his hometown of Mayfield, Kentucky.

In 2021, Samaritan’s Purse responded to a string of deadly tornadoes that killed dozens of people across the Midwest and left hundreds of families homeless just weeks before Christmas. Many of them, like Hollie, were already carrying heavy burdens that the weight of disaster only added to. Our teams of volunteers worked hard in multiple locations in Kentucky as well as northeast Arkansas to remove downed trees, clear debris, tarp roofs, and salvage personal belongings.

As the powerful tornado made its approach, Hollie sought refuge in the hallway of his home. The strong winds scattered debris and uprooted a large tree in the yard. He praised God for sparing his life when everything around him was total devastation. “It was like a bomb hit,” Hollie said. “The Lord must have been with me.”

Samaritan’s Purse volunteers cut up the tree in Hollie’s yard and also tarped his roof. “I couldn’t believe that people that didn’t know me would come and help,” he shared. “To have this joy and warmth in my heart pulls away the doom and gloom and bad feelings.”

During this December tornado response, more than 3,000 Samaritan’s Purse volunteers served over 900 families. During 2021, over 10,000 volunteers spread out across the country to help hurting homeowners like Hollie. From hurricanes and floods to wildfires and ice storms, our teams logged 329,000 work hours and (continued on page 9)

“You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

MATTHEW 22:37-39
demonstrated God’s love to over 5,000 families during 30 deployments in 13 states. We praise God that 577 people came to faith in Christ through these disaster responses.

Volunteers worked hard to provide physical relief for storm victims while demonstrating the compassion of Christ. Among them were former Vice President Mike Pence and his wife, Karen. The couple volunteered in Kentucky as well as Louisiana, where Samaritan’s Purse launched a major response after Category 4 Hurricane Ida brutalized the state. The storm caused widespread damage and knocked out power for more than 1 million people, including the entire city of New Orleans. Our teams deployed to three locations across southeastern Louisiana, and we were blessed to witness more than 260 people come to know Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior through these efforts.

As Hurricane Ida bore down on their town of Schriever, Louisiana, Heather and Jason Harper had little time to evacuate their family of five. They took shelter in the nearby home of Heather’s mom, bracing themselves as heavy wind and rain pounded around them. Though the storm was fierce, the Harpers trusted God as the eye of the hurricane passed over their home.

Our teams removed several downed trees and cleared their yard of storm debris. The family was overwhelmed at the kindness shown to them during a time of desperate need.

“Every person on this Samaritan’s Purse team is shining God’s light very brightly,” Jason said. “It’s hard to articulate what it means to us.”

Samaritan’s Purse is committed to caring for hurting families long after a storm has come and gone. Through our rebuild program, we’re helping those whose homes need more extensive repairs beyond an initial cleanup. In 2021, our volunteers worked hard rebuilding homes in Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Florida, and Kentucky. We also celebrated God’s faithfulness as we completed our rebuild project in LaGrange, Texas, where our teams constructed 20 new homes for victims of Hurricane Harvey.
ETHIOPIA: Our DC-8 aircraft carried more than 285 tons of cargo on 12 relief missions to countries such as Ethiopia, where displaced people living in the Tigray region were in desperate need. The airlifts included ready-to-use supplemental food supplies to help children at risk for severe malnutrition, as well as solar lanterns and rolls of tarp for repairing or constructing shelters. We also provided medical care and the compassion of Christ where clinics were overwhelmed or incapacitated.

PHILIPPINES/TYPHOON RAI: Super Typhoon Rai caused major destruction and left hundreds of thousands of people displaced. Our country office in the Philippines began preparing a response even before the storm hit, quickly deploying staff who worked with local church partners to meet urgent needs. Samaritan’s Purse distributed more than 200 tons of emergency relief supplies, such as food, hygiene kits, shelter, and water filtration kits among nearly 300,000 beneficiaries. We also installed several desalination treatment systems.

“And be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God in Christ forgave you.”

EMERGENCY

FOOD & MEDICINE
Desbeline was washing clothes in the river near her house when suddenly the ground shifted beneath her feet and rocks started tumbling down on top of her.

A 7.8 magnitude earthquake had rocked the entire southern coast of Haiti—killing more than 2,000 people and destroying hundreds of thousands of homes.

Desbeline, a mother of two, was knocked unconscious and awoke to find her left hand had been crushed in the rockslide. She ran home to her family, praying as she went that everyone was OK. When she arrived, her children were screaming and crying outside what used to be their home. Everything was now gone.

Nearby, the home of Desbeline’s brother had also collapsed, with her brother and 2-year-old niece trapped inside. They didn’t make it out, both dying trapped underneath the rubble.

As Desbeline dug through piles and piles of concrete and splintered wood, the first sign of hope was in a baby’s cry. Desbeline couldn’t believe that her youngest nephew, Adonnia, had survived, even as the home had crumbled around him.

Desbeline’s family didn’t know where to turn in the immediate, traumatic aftermath. “It’s up to God,” she said. “He’s the only One who’s going to know how to help me.”

Both Desbeline and Adonnia desperately needed medical attention. Desbeline’s hand was broken and infection was quickly spreading, while Adonnia could no longer bear weight on his left leg. They were each referred to the Samaritan’s Purse Emergency Field Hospital.

Our teams transformed an empty field and basketball court into a 36-bed hospital complete with an operating theater and pharmacy. Here, Desbeline received critical surgery to set the broken bones in her hand, and Adonnia’s leg was casted.

We airlifted the Emergency Field Hospital, along with tons of relief supplies, to Haiti on four DC-8 flights. Our DC-8 aircraft carried more than 285 tons of cargo on 12 relief missions in 2021, including multiple flights to northern Ethiopia after months of internal conflict left millions of families without access to basic necessities. Wherever God leads our teams to respond, they do so in Jesus’ Name, sharing the eternal hope of the Gospel while meeting physical needs and relieving suffering.

“If you extend your soul to the hungry and satisfy the afflicted soul, then your light shall dawn in the darkness.”

SADIA’S FAMILY WAS ONE OF MANY HURTING FAMILIES SERVED BY SAMARITAN’S PURSE IN THE COUNTRY’S CRISIS. THROUGH OUR AFGHAN RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM, SADIA’S FAMILY IS BEING HELPED TO REBUILD THEIR LIVES IN AMERICA.

They had to escape. If they failed, their lives likely would be finished. The Taliban had taken back Afghanistan by force, pushing the country into turmoil and imperiling hundreds of thousands of people. The world watched in horror as chaos enveloped Kabul airport and then sickening scenes began unfolding. People fell to their death after hanging onto airplanes during takeoff. Others were wounded when the Taliban fired shots into the mass of people desperately waiting to leave. Scores were killed in a bomb attack. We thank God that many thousands did escape, like Sadia’s family.

Sadia, her husband, and 2-year-old daughter temporarily resettled along the Albanian coastline, where Samaritan’s Purse had quickly deployed in Jesus’ Name to serve hundreds of hurting Afghan families. Our teams distributed relief items, led trauma healing courses, and ran a medical clinic. As we helped to meet critical needs, we also reminded evacuees that God loves them and they are not alone or forgotten. Sadia was thankful for the diapers she received in an infant care kit distributed by our teams. “These will help a lot because it’s hard for us to buy these supplies because we don’t have any income,” Sadia said.

Welcoming Our Afghan Neighbors

Families like Sadia’s are now seeking to resettle in countries where they can begin building a new life and a bright future. Thousands of families await resettlement here in the United States. The Samaritan’s Purse Afghan Resettlement Program is assisting these families by connecting them with sponsoring churches across the country. These churches are helping evacuees rebuild their lives in America, from securing housing and transportation to enrolling children in school to helping with language skills and navigating a new culture. This unique opportunity is a wonderful way to demonstrate Christ’s compassion to people in need.

“There are so many little blessings. I can’t wait to see what God does each day,” said Cathy, who is a member of the church sponsoring the Amini* family. “This has touched my heart so much. To work on a project of this magnitude is special.”

The Amini family includes father Rahim*, mother Nadia*, and children ages 15 to 2. Although Rahim is thankful that his wife and children are with him and are safe, sadly, they did have to leave family in Afghanistan.

“I was not able to continue work in Afghanistan. The situation was very bad,” he said. “We couldn’t bring anything with us.”

The family has looked to Cathy and the team for help with routine tasks that are suddenly unfamiliar, such as using an electric stove and a washing machine. They’re especially grateful for the team’s help in learning English.

“They are our teachers,” Rahim said. “We learn so much from them. It would have been impossible for us to live here without this team.”

Shoebox Gifts Open Doors for the Gospel

Romina had heard stories from the Bible but never in the way they were told during an Operation Christmas Child outreach event in her village in the mountains of Ecuador. The Word of God came alive to Romina, age 12, as she listened intently to the Gospel explained in simple, engaging terms. Overwhelmed by Jesus’ love for her, Romina prayed to receive Him as her Lord and Savior.

Then, when Romina opened her shoebox gift at the event, the first thing she saw on top of the other items in the box was exactly what she had spent weeks praying for—special colored markers. Romina had dreamed of honing her drawing skills with markers like these. This special provision confirmed to Romina that she can always go to God with every one of her needs.

LUKE 18:16

WE BRING BOYS AND GIRLS to one of our partner hospitals in North America and the Caribbean for critical heart operations that are not available in the countries where they live. We provide transportation for the child and a parent or guardian, and then match children and their family members with Christian host families who welcome them with Christ-like compassion. Twenty-four children received surgery in 2021, with 14 decisions made for Jesus Christ by children and their parent or guardian.

Since 1997, Children’s Heart Project has arranged life-saving surgery for more than 1,430 children.

An Operation Christmas Child outreach event in Fiji blessed boys and girls with a shoebox filled with special gifts—a tangible expression of God’s love for them.

Children in Uganda are learning more about God and how to share their faith through The Greatest Journey discipleship classes.

OPERA TION CHRISTMAS CHILD
THE GREATEST JOURNEY
Moise fled to Malawi and joined his sister and brother-in-law in a refugee camp in order to escape the continued fighting and instability that hovered over life in his home country. Although the immediate threat against their lives diminished, the family hasn’t been freed from the day-to-day hardships inside the refugee camp, such as constantly worrying about having enough to eat.

On top of that, Moise, 18, was living with a deformed femoral head (upper thigh), making any kind of movement quite difficult. He still remembers growing up and trying to play games with other children, but being unable to keep up. “I cannot run or walk fast. I have to use the crutches,” he said.

God’s Grace Sustains

Moise had no idea how surgery would ever be possible. He was thrilled to learn about a World Medical Mission orthopedic surgery team that Samaritan’s Purse was sending to Nkhoma Hospital in Malawi that could perform the necessary procedure. He recovered well and soon saw improvement. “The leg is great by the grace of God,” he said. Moise is hopeful that he can one day share with others the same grace and healing he received. “I’ve always dreamed of becoming a doctor. My passion is to help other people with problems like mine.”

World Medical Mission continued to provide unique opportunities to serve across the globe in Jesus’ Name in 2021. We sent 363 short-term volunteers to serve at mission hospitals, and biomedical staff made 15 trips to six countries. We also shipped 40 containers of medical supplies to 16 hospitals.

The Future is at Stake

Catherine saw the car coming and threw up her arm in a hasty attempt to shield her head. The car hit Catherine’s motorbike and threw her off, leaving her with a broken humerus and a shattered version of the life she thought she knew. After breaking her arm, Catherine couldn’t travel to the market to sell wrap skirts, which had been the family’s only source of income since her husband lost his job as a cook at a boarding school due to the ongoing COVID-19 health crisis. “I can’t do anything to generate income.”

Catherine could not work and support her family after she broke her arm in a motorbike accident.
Togo/Hospital of Hope: Samaritan’s Purse offers many opportunities for medical professionals to serve around the world in the Name of Jesus Christ. Through our World Medical Mission Post-Residency Program, we have placed more than 230 Christian physicians and dentists at mission hospitals in 32 countries where they can serve within their specialty and also serve alongside career missionaries.

California: We responded to the ongoing COVID-19 health crisis by caring for critically ill patients in Jesus’ Name and launching infection prevention and control projects around the globe. In California, we partnered with Antelope Valley Hospital by deploying an Emergency Field Hospital to provide desperately needed surge capacity. We also set up field hospitals in Mississippi and Western North Carolina, and rushed tents and relief specialists to the Bahamas to increase capacity for the COVID-19 care unit at Princess Margaret Hospital. In total, Samaritan’s Purse cared for more than 300 COVID-19 patients in 2021.
Yet, Dakeech trusts that everything is going to change now that her daughter’s lip has been fixed by a Samaritan’s Purse volunteer surgical team who came to Juba Teaching Hospital in South Sudan.

“All the bad things people said about me and the child will be washed away,” Dakeech said. “I am so, so happy.”

Nyani is the 1,000th patient to receive surgery from a Samaritan’s Purse cleft lip and palate surgical team. Our volunteer teams of surgeons, nurses, and other medical professionals demonstrate God’s love as they repair lips for patients in South Sudan and other countries such as Liberia, Bolivia, Myanmar, and Guatemala.

In South Sudan alone—where the project first began—our teams have repaired the lips of more than 700 babies, children, youth, and adults. About 95 percent of these patients were only able to come to the capital city of Juba for surgery because our mission aviation team provided free transportation aboard our fleet of aircraft.

In 2021, we celebrated 10 years of providing cleft lip surgeries in the East African nation. Our 10-year anniversary trip in late October resulted in 120 operations for patients without other options for surgery. During the weeklong campaign, our mission aviation team conducted many flights that brought in patients from a dozen different remote areas across the country.

Nyani was among the first to receive a new smile during the recent campaign, and after the surgery, her mother couldn’t stop smiling. “You bring us here for free surgery, you give us a bed, you give us food, and you transport us back home—all these things you did because of this child, because of the love you have.”

A New Identity in Christ

Army Staff Sergeant Andrew Jenkins (pictured right) suffered concussions, extensive nerve damage, and traumatic brain injuries during multiple deployments to Iraq and Afghanistan. But the most challenging obstacle he faced after medically retiring quickly became figuring out his purpose in life.

“I lost my identity because for 14 years I was a soldier,” Andrew said. “Suddenly, I didn’t have a purpose.”

Andrew and his wife, Aimmie, a retired Army sergeant, began floundering in their marriage as they struggled adjusting to post-military life. They applied to Operation Heal Our Patriots with the hopes of strengthening their marriage and growing closer to God. The Samaritan’s Purse project offers physical rest and spiritual renewal to wounded veterans and their spouses during a weeklong stay at Samaritan Lodge Alaska.

“In Alaska, I discovered myself and whose I am. I found my faith again,” Andrew said. “That week saved our marriage.”

Andrew and Aimmie the opportunity to volunteer in hard-hit communities following natural disasters. Although Andrew was hesitant to join because of his injuries, he and Aimmie decided to give Team Patriot a try and deployed to Louisiana where our teams were providing relief in the aftermath of Hurricane Ida.

“Team Patriot gave me a new sense of purpose. I experienced the joy that comes with serving,” Andrew said. “It also gave Aimmie renewed joy because she saw a new spark in me. It strengthened and built up our marriage.”

Andrew was especially honored to serve several fellow veterans in Louisiana, including a National Guardsman trying to juggle being a full-time soldier while also caring for his disabled wife.

Ida’s fury ripped apart three structures in the soldier’s backyard, scattering debris all across the property. He didn’t know how he would ever clean it all up—until Team Patriot arrived. “We left him with hope,” Andrew said.

Andrew gives God glory for restoring his marriage through Operation Heal Our Patriots and for allowing him to work with Team Patriot.

“I shouldn’t be physically able to do what I’m doing, but each time I come out with Team Patriot, the Lord gives me the strength,” he said. “I can’t explain it, but I know it’s Him.”

More than 1,300 couples have participated in Operation Heal Our Patriots since it began in 2012. We welcomed 150 couples to Samaritan Lodge Alaska last year, and we saw God at work in their lives as 75 couples rededicated their marriages, 74 individuals were baptized, and 72 individuals made decisions for Jesus Christ.

Veterans Serving Veterans

Team Patriot is a Samaritan’s Purse initiative that gives Operation Heal Our Patriots alumni like Andrew and Aimmie the opportunity to volunteer in hard-hit communities following natural disasters. Although Andrew was hesitant to join because of his injuries, he and Aimmie decided to give Team Patriot a try and deployed to Louisiana where our teams were providing relief in the aftermath of Hurricane Ida.

“Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful.”

“Tou serves on the support committee where her five children attend primary school. She is always eager to help and encourage teachers and students, as the school is in a remote area of Cambodia and most of the children come from impoverished families.

Samaritan’s Purse is working in the province where Tou lives to both improve literacy and meet the infrastructural needs of schools. Our teams built five new classrooms and installed a water filter and multiple latrines at her children’s school. We also provided school teachers with training and resources so they are better equipped to help students with their reading skills.

“We have seen amazing grace in our remote and disadvantaged community—one that so few know and care about,” Tou said. “God’s love has come here despite the distance and poverty.”

In addition to providing educational support, our teams also committed to offering spiritual hope to Tou’s community. Samaritan’s Purse partnered with a local pastor who shared the Gospel with teachers, support committee members, and even construction crews who worked at the school.

We praise God that 18 people, including Tou, came to faith in Jesus Christ through the witness of this local pastor. Tou was baptized and now attends a weekly Bible study and worship service started by the pastor. About 80 children are also participating in the weekly services.

“We now have a quality education program. We never dreamed that our village would have this,” Tou said. “We are so grateful to Samaritan’s Purse for their love and faithfulness to serve our community.”

Cambodia is one of many places where our evangelism and discipleship projects are building up the ministry of the local church. We’re also doing similar work in countries such as South Sudan, Niger, Iraq, and the Philippines.

“The Lord Jesus did not abandon us, but showed His love through Samaritan’s Purse. We now have a quality education program. We never dreamed that our village would have this,” Tou said. “We are so grateful to Samaritan’s Purse for their love and faithfulness to serve our community.”
“Let not mercy and truth forsake you; bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart.”

Proverbs 3:3

Samaritan’s Purse began an agricultural grant program to help farmers like Thabit begin to heal and to rebuild their lives. Through this grant, Thabit received $700 that allowed him to purchase a new plot of land. Between his rows of pomegranate, fig, lemon, and olive trees, Thabit planted vegetables ranging from eggplant and cucumbers to peppers, onions, and lettuce.

Iraq is among numerous countries where Samaritan’s Purse is using agriculture projects to help create livelihood opportunities for people in need. Last year, we also taught women in Bolivia how to raise hens so they can sell eggs at the market, and trained women in Liberia on how to use new farming techniques.

For Thabit, our teams didn’t stop with a plot of land. We also added a fence around his new property and installed irrigation pipes as well as a water pump that allow him to take advantage of his well during the dry season. “They raised our life up again,” Thabit said of the Samaritan’s Purse team who helped him. Thabit is now looking ahead to how he can keep his trees green even when electricity shortages prevent him from running his irrigation system as often as he’d like. He hopes to earn enough to provide a generator or solar power cells to keep water pumping to his field and to those of his neighbors.

Through Thabit’s hard work and perseverance, he remains grateful, knowing that he didn’t get here on his own. “My hope is in God first because He always provides,” he said. “Thank you for coming here and seeing our biggest needs.”

The Ministry receives significant contributions at year-end due to program activity from projects such as Operation Christmas Child and normal year-end giving from donors. As a result, cash and investment balances are normally at their highest levels at year-end. The cash and investment balances are used as quickly as possible to support Ministry activity. The Ministry receives significant contributions all year-end due to program activity from projects such as Operation Christmas Child and normal year-end giving from donors. As a result, cash and investment balances are normally at their highest levels at year-end. The cash and investment balances are used as quickly as possible to support Ministry activity.
